STOP.

Sadly, scams are on the increase and TV Licensing is one of the organisations that scammers may try to impersonate.

If you receive something that says it's from TV Licensing that you're not sure about, the first thing to do is STOP. Don't rush into giving away any of your personal information.

CHECK.

Scammers will use a variety of methods to try and obtain information from you – maybe through an email, letter, text, phone call, or even a visitor at your door.

This leaflet tells you what to check for in each case, to help you identify whether communications are genuinely from TV Licensing or not.

ASK.

If you're unsure about any communication that you've received from TV Licensing, we're always happy to help.

On the following pages you'll find our contact details, plus other organisations you can contact for information and advice.

Emails

Email scams can appear almost identical to our genuine emails. Here's an example of a real TV Licensing email. We've labelled it to help you spot if the email you've received is a scam.

Dear Mrs Smith,

You're about to lose your TV Licence.
Act now, before it's too late.

You stopped paying for your TV Licence by Direct Debit. Because of this, your licence is about to expire. Please set up a new Direct Debit to stay licensed.

1. Check the sender

Genuine TV Licensing emails are sent from:

donotreply@tvlicensing.co.uk or donotreply@spp.tvlicensing.co.uk

On a computer or laptop, you should be able to see the real email address between the < > symbols. But on a mobile device, you may need to select the sender's name to see the address.

✗ TV Licensing Customer <note81@mail.co.uk>

✓ TV Licensing <donotreply@tvlicensing.co.uk>

2. Partial Postcode

If you have provided us with your postcode details, our emails will include part of your postcode and/or the name on the licence.

3. Look for your name

If you've given us your name, then we'll always address you using your last name and title. Watch out for emails that only address you as "Dear client" or "Dear customer" – or just use your email address (or part of it).

4. Check the spelling and grammar

Scammers can't use our genuine TV Licensing web addresses or email addresses.

Look out for slightly different spellings and things like hyphens and other grammatical errors, such as full stops in odd places.

5. Check the links

Always check links in an email before clicking on or tapping them. Be particularly wary of links that promise you money/refunds.

If you're on a computer:

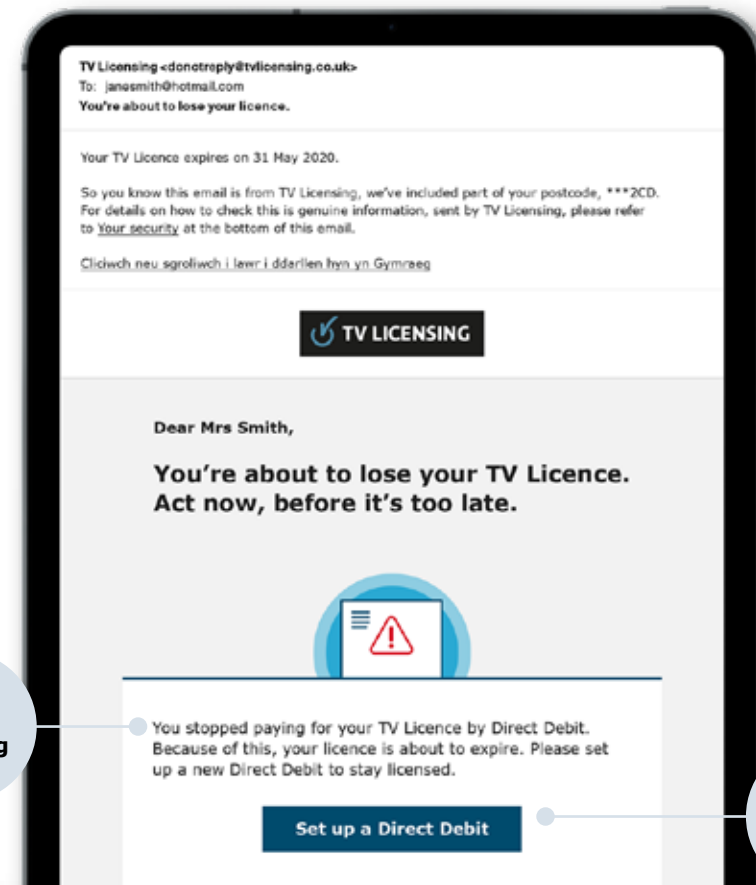

- Hover over the link with your mouse (but don't click it). This will reveal the full web address that you are being sent to.

If you're on a smartphone or tablet:

- Press and hold the link (don't release while you are on the link). This will reveal the full web address that you are being sent to.

If you're ever unsure

Don't click on any links or give any personal details. Sign in at tvlicensing.co.uk/yourlicence – using your licence number, the name on the licence and the postcode – to check your licence, expiry date and payment details.

Letters

Scammers may send you letters, addressed to you by name. They'll often ask you to phone or go online to confirm your payment details. Here's how to tell a genuine TV Licensing letter from a fake one:

- ✓ If you are currently licensed and you have given us your title and last name, we will always use these when we write to you. We'll also include your TV Licence number.
- ✓ If you are registered as 'No Licence Needed', we'll include that reference number instead of your TV Licence number.

What things will the scammers try?

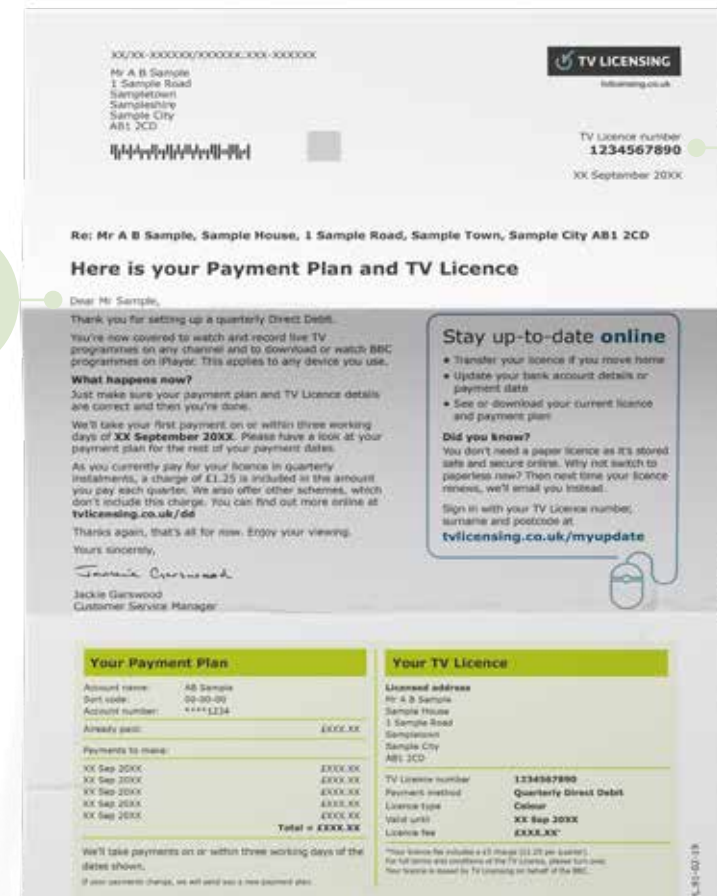

A scam letter will often tell you there is a problem with your licence or that you are due a refund. This is to try to get you to go to a fake website or call a fake number to sort it out.

If you are ever suspicious or doubtful about what a letter is asking you to do, always go to our website and sign in to your licence at tvlicensing.co.uk/yourlicence to check if anything is actually wrong.

Our official websites which we'll direct you to are:

- ✓ tvlicensing.co.uk
- ✓ spp.tvlicensing.co.uk
- ✓ 75plan.tvlicensing.co.uk

We may use our shortened web address tvlicensing.co.uk which will always direct you to our websites.

If you've contacted us with a query, one of our team may call you back to discuss it. This may be from a withheld number, but the call will only be regarding the query you've raised.

If you're ever unsure

Do not provide any personal details – end the call. Scammers are sometimes able to keep phone lines open. So if you need to check anything with us or your bank, remember to wait at least 20 minutes before making a new call. Or use a different phone.

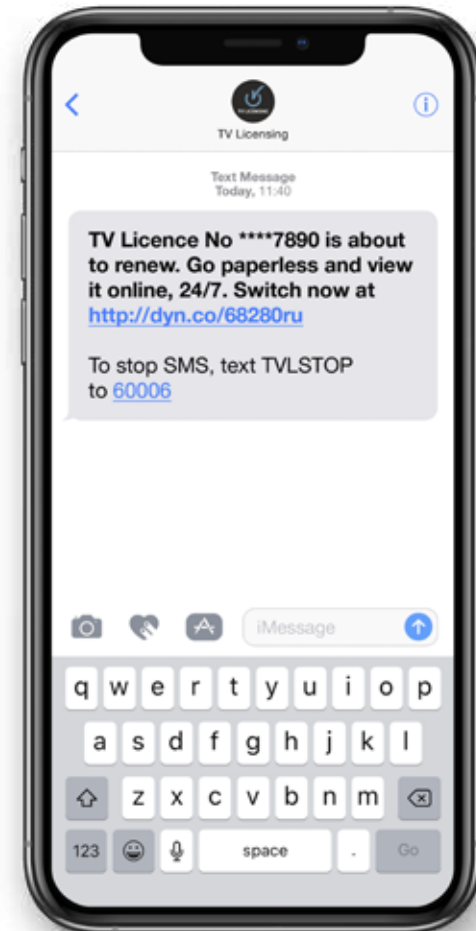

Text messages

Here's how to tell if a text message is genuinely from TV Licensing or not.

- ✓ If you've just signed up for Direct Debit, you may receive a text message letting you know when your first payment will be taken.
- ✓ If you've contacted us by phone or on our automated service, we may send you a confirmation message or a satisfaction survey.

What we'll never do in a text message:

- ✗ Tell you that you're entitled to a refund
- ✗ Ask you to set up a payment plan or provide your bank details by text message
